Children's Centre News

* We had a lot of visitors last week. It was lots of fun. On Tuesday, we walked up to the Wirangu Interpretive Trail near the skate park with Larry Higgins who is an Aboriginal Cultural Consultant based in Whyalla. In the afternoon Ashlee came in with baby Dalby to say hello, pick up the baby books and have the photo taken for the baby folder. On Wednesday we had a great time with the R/1 class. On Thursday Tannille came with her Family Day Care group. They helped us feed the turtles, tried on dress-ups, did some gluing and lots of other activities.

* On Wednesday we also had a visit from the auditor. Julie Tree is to be congratulated on her great bookwork and for making sure that our financial transactions follow correct procedures. We received a great report.

* We’re reading ‘It’s lovely when you smile’ about a little character called Roo who is very grumpy even when his mum tries to help him smile.

* Partnerships Review is this Friday. The Children’s Centre has put in a spotlight item on Transition. There has been an enormous effort made by all sites to make sure that Central Eyre Partnership puts their best foot forward.

* The design of the outside blackboards is progressing. Thank you Thomas.

* The Children’s Centre has a new Wi-Fi system. Governing Council has decided to buy an iPad or tablet once we’ve looked at the options.

* Wanted: little (up to 15cm) offcuts of pine or other softwood for the children to use on our woodworking bench. If you have longer bits the Men’s Shed have offered to cut them into shorter lengths.

* A reminder that entry to the kindy needs to be authorised. Please do not use the key at the shop without contacting the Director beforehand if it is outside regular hours for kindy and playgroup.

* A note for playgroup families: you are welcome to borrow library books under your child’s name. We ask that you borrow only two at a time. This is the same as the kindy children and allows enough books for all to borrow. Thank you.

* Playgroup will as usual on Friday from 10am – 12pm. All welcome.
